Using the new My Pension Online

I've got different pension records but can't see them.

You can find your different pension records on the following screens:

- Annual Benefit Statements – 'Employment' drop down menu
- Documents and uploads
- Benefit calculators
- Payslips and P60s (pensioners/dependants)
- Retirement Planner

Why do I get taken back to the old site?

Although Lothian Pension Fund has launched the new My Pension Online platform, the software provider is in the final stages of transferring all the functionality from the old site and so you may be redirected to it to complete certain tasks.

I've registered but forgotten my password

If you've registered for the new My Pension Online, you can ask for a password reset at the login screen.

Will I see be able to see the same documents and information?

All your existing documents and information are still available on the new My Pension Online. You can see your old annual benefit statements, annual allowance information and letters.

About your Annual Benefit Statement

When will my 2025 Annual Pension Forecast be available?

We're currently working on the 2025 annual benefit statements and will be in touch by email to confirm when it's available. If you've asked us for a paper statement, we'll send this to you by post. All forecasts will be available by 31 August 2025.

Can I have a paper copy of my statement?

If you still like a hard copy, you can download, save and print a copy of your statement. Click the "Download Your Statement" button at the bottom of the page. You can also get in touch at pensions@lpf.org.uk and we can issue a paper statement.
